

MAKREV Packaging & Theegarten PacTec

In a recent development, Theegarten Pactec has acquired shares in the Turkish mechanical engineering company MAKREV Packaging. With this acquisition, the specialist for primary packaging intends to offer high quality packaging solutions to customers who require medium performance/speed machines at competitive prices.

Theegarten Pactec, based in Dresden, Germany, is a specialist in primary packaging for small-sized confectionery products. It has acquired a stake in the Turkish company MAKREV Packaging. The Istanbul based company was founded in 1998 and specializes in manufacturing chocolate and jelly packaging machines with intermittent motion, as well as complete automation and feeding systems. MAKREV's machines achieve a packaging output of up to 900 pieces per minute for jelly products and hard candies and 400 pieces per minute for chocolate products.

By this acquisition, Theegarten Pactec aims to complement its product portfolio and cater to those customers in the mid performance and price segments. "This step is exactly the right one for our long term success," says Markus Rustler, CEO of Theegarten Pactec. "MAKREV machines are solidly constructed and produced to the highest quality. They have an impeccable reputation in the industry."
